In 1996, Justin Pate started off wrapping in New York City then moved to Amsterdam in 2007. Justin continued installing until 2012 when he began teaching workshops full time. Justin now travels the world teaching hands-on workshops that focus on digital full print and color change installations. In addition to teaching hand-on workshops, Justin heads The Wrap Institute which is an online streaming video platform. The Wrap Institute has over 1500 videos in its library and TWI's motto is "Never Stop Learning". This is the engine that drives Justin's education platform to continue to innovate and improve the wrap industry.
